RUBIK

OUTDOOR KITCHENS

Design A.Perencin

vittinox

RuBik, the new collection of stainless steel kitchens from Vittinox' s Via Galilei 19 series, designed for both internal and external environments.

The main feature of this project is the possibility of overlying and joining the various elements at will, allowing to create unique compositions.

Top and backsplash act as a load-bearing element for the base units that do not require support feet, making it easier to clean underneath area.

Doors, shelves and backsplashes are available in stainless steel, in RAL colors and painted satin bronze, titanium, champagne and copper finishes.

“RuBik, a new way of experiencing the kitchen”.

A concept that is perfectly suited to enjoy outdoor.

The self-supporting back panel allows the kitchen to be placed even as an island.

vittinox

RuBik, a range of elements of different sizes to create the ideal space. The kitchen can take on different shapes depending on modules combinations, leaving room for imagination.

vittinox

RuBik, the modular kitchen designed for outdoor spaces whether they are a garden or a terrace in which conviviality becomes the expression of a new way of being together and spending one's time in an environment of rare beauty to be customized according to one's tastes.

The clean and elegant lines, the tailoring guaranteed by the skilled and expert hands of our collaborators, the use of the best AISI 316 stainless steel (optional) resistant in high salinity environments, make RuBik a kitchen created to last over time.

Canale attrezzato TechBOX

Choosing a Vittinox kitchen means sharing a continued commitment to the search for technical and technological solutions in full compliance with environment and using completely recyclable materials.
